Imperial, Cal.,
Feb. 19th, 1902.

The pen recently ordered came to hand in good condition.

The only objection I have found to it is the temptation to waste a great deal of time showing other people how simple a matter it is to fill the holder, and how beautifully and cleanly it works.

Very truly yours,
B. F. HOWE.

I consider the "Conklin Self-Filling Pen," the incomparable, ideal pen on the market of the world today.

Steamship China coming into Honolulu harbor on Tuesday morning after a tempestuous trip from the Orient.

Delegate Wilcox a Passenger for the Coast by Steamship China Got Poor Aloha From Friends.

The departure of Delegate Wilcox on the steamship China last night on his way to attend the short session of Congress was not a very thrilling scene. In fact, it was a sad one for the Delegate. Only a small party of friends were there to see him off and to bid aloha, and this little party was at times pretty well broken up by a drunken native who shouted until he was hoarse.

"Hurrah for Wilkok! Three cheers for our Delegate! Hur-r-a—"

But the crowd did not cheer worth a cent, and the only noise that could be heard was the man on a spree shouting.

"No hurrah? All right. I'm a Republican. I am. No more Home Rule. I'm a Home Ruler when the Home Rulers win, and I'm a Republican all right when the Republicans win. Hurrah!"

Again the native got no response to his request for cheers, and he then commenced to rake Wilcox over the coals. A moment later he would be a Democrat, and then a staunch Republican, shouting loudly that the Republicans were the only ones. Then he would stride over to Mrs. Wilcox, and in a low voice tell her that the Home Rule party was the only one that could win two years from now.

Wilcox's friends did not try to make the man desist. They seemed to enjoy his tirade, and when he made a speech telling Wilcox that he should have a stone wall built all around the islands to keep the Republicans out, he seemed to amuse everybody.

But standing at the rail of the steamer was a man pretty well disgusted with the following on the wharf, especially the drunk, and not at all cheerful. He seemed offended that such a small crowd was present to cheer his departure.

To an Advertiser reporter he stated that he had no plans at present to introduce any measures during the short session of Congress for the benefit of Hawaii. He thought that he would have time to think over anything in that line on his voyage to the Coast. Concerning the future of the Home Rule party he said that there was plenty of time to work during the next two years. He thought that he would have won if the Democrats had carried out the fusion arrangement.

But there were many other people from Hawaii journeying to the states. When the steamer left the wharf at 7:30 o'clock she had a big crowd of Hawaiians on board. Collector of Internal Revenue Chamberlain is on his way to San Francisco because of the sickness of his son there. The party of bankers and financiers who have been touring the Islands for the last few weeks were on board for the return trip to the Coast. Mrs. E. K. Pratt, aunt of Mrs. R. W. Wilcox, is on her way to Washington.

The China did not get alongside the Pacific Mail wharf until about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and her passengers had a story to tell of a very rough passage from Yokohama. The well-known liner met with heavy head seas and winds and during most of her passage and off the anchorage on Tuesday morning found it very rough, windy and rainy.

The passengers for Honolulu from the Orient included J. P. McCoy, president of the Oriental Life Insurance Company of Honolulu, who has been attending to the company's affairs in China for some time. Mrs. F. D. Walker and H. E. Walker, wife and son of Captain F. D. Walker, returned from a visit of several months' duration in Japan. Cheuk Sg Chan, formerly a wealthy Chinese merchant on Molokai, returns after a residence of a couple of years in his own country. Among the through passengers are a number of army and navy men returning from the Philippines.

The following Honolulu people left on the China: W. L. May, Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Crocker, A. C. Kains, George Tourney, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rathbone, Mrs. John S. Ellis, Mrs. W. T. Ellis, Hart Wilcox, Miss Nellie Kitchen, Mrs. N. J. Malone, William Patterson, Mrs. F. M. Hatch, D. S. Watson, wife, child and maid; Miss L. M. Bolton, George K. Hooper, Alexander Young, Mrs. C. C. von Hamm, J. B. Pratt, Mrs. A. S. Prescott, Mrs. M. L. Elliott, Eugene Valgean, J. A. M. Johnson, R. W. Wilcox, Col. Thomas Fitch and wife, W. S. Perkins, A. A. Benson, R. H. Chamberlain, Mrs. E. K. Pratt, Miss Eva Cartwright, Miss Lillian Cramer, H. L. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Galt, T. Livingston, E. J. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Smith, John T. Smyth, George P. Smyth, Miss M. Smyth, Mrs. F. M. Brooks, F. C. Bertlemaun and wife, Miss E. Stephens, J. Schumelster, W. L. Coleman, Hang Kee, Mr. Schweitzer, Mr. Kiley, Mr. Campbell.

Seas Were Rough.

The steamer Mauna Loa arrived from her regular run to Hawaii, Molokai and Maui ports yesterday and reports having bad weather throughout the trip. The sea was very rough, wind heavy, and there was much rain along the Hamakua coast. A similar story comes from along the Kau coast. The steamer had some difficulty in loading cargo off Punaluu. Strong northeast winds, with moderate seas, were met on the voyage home.

Cruiser Off for the Coast.

The cruiser New York, which sailed from Honolulu for San Francisco early yesterday morning, may have a rough passage for the Coast, as the strong trade winds will bring along heavy seas, and in them, officers of the vessel say, she behaves very badly, taking much water over her nose and making matters uncomfortable. The war ship expects to make the trip to San Francisco in six days.

Two Sailers for the Coast.

Two sailing ships, the French bark Vincennes and the bark Albert, got away for San Francisco early yesterday. The Frenchman has a partial cargo of coal for San Francisco, and the Albert only took enough sugar to serve as ballast.

Billie Making Slow Trips.

The German bark Billie, bound from Hamburg to Honolulu, is now out 161 days on the passage, which is considered forty days more than the ordinary time required for the trip.

Quails From the Orient.

One of the recently arrived China boats brought an unusual shipment of 1,000 live Asiatic quails to Honolulu.
